

San Clemente Cove Chronicle

June 2014

Great annual meeting turn out!

It was fun visiting with so many Owners during the Cove's annual meeting that included the election of the 2014 Board of Directors. I personally enjoy our annual get together where I can meet with Owners in a more relaxed atmosphere. Usually Owners are eager to start their vacation so I don't always get to socialize as much as I would like.

I appreciate the sharing that goes on at the meeting – very often an Owner will tell me an idea or something they like from another resort and we try to incorporate their input into the Cove so that it maintains its reputation as an award-winning resort. As for the 2014 election, my congratulations go to the three incumbents - Charlie Stevenson, Doug Funderburk and Chuck Munzert – for being voted to a new two-year term on the board. Based on the vote and turnout, Owners agreed with the direction and leadership displayed by the incumbents.

I also want to thank our first-time candidates for presenting their vision and willingness to serve our association.

Speaking of The Cove...

Those of you visiting this summer will be amazed by the continued improvements to San Clemente Cove. All units have been repainted with new artwork and accessories installed. In addition, the sauna and elevator floor have been refurbished. This is part of the continued commitment made by your board to keep the resort fresh in appearance and well maintained.

Around Our Town...

Location, location, location is what makes San Clemente so desirable when the days grow long and the water warms. Eighty – as in 80 degrees - is the lucky number for visitors in August. The National Weather Service this year predicts the daily temperature will be a beautiful 80 to 81, up from the typical high 70s that dominate in July. Considering that June's typical temps are in the 60s you can see why so many Owners and guests visit us in mid-summer. Whichever summer month you visit us, just remember this bit of advice – bring plenty of suntan lotion!

The Fourth of July is always a blast (pardon the pun) as fireworks off the pier paint the night sky beginning at about 9 p.m.

The "Greatest Show on Surf!" marks its 38th celebration when the San Clemente Ocean Festival kicks off the weekend of July 19 and 20. There are so many family activities taking place this weekend – sand sculpting contests, a rubber duck race, a free concert, fishing derbies, an exhibit of Woodies – remember cruising the coast listening to the Beach Boys and Jan and Dean? – as well as the Orange County Lifeguard Games. Want to know more? Go to www.oceanfestival.org.

July concludes with the launch of the annual summer concert series. This year's theme is "Bringing the Bands to the Sand!" The concerts begin at 6 p.m. and I highly recommend getting your section of sand early. This year's lineup includes Kenny Cetera – Tribute to Chicago (July 31); DSB Band, tribute to Journey (Aug. 14); and the reggae of Common Sense (Aug. 28).
