October 2015

Greetings Villa L'Auberge Owners,

Autumn Arrives in Del Mar

Del Mar saw an excessively hot and often humid summer. In fact, multiple temperature records were set around the region! Maintenance spent every Sunday testing and adjusting the fans which were in heavy use. There was lots of swimming in the ocean this year, which warmed up at times to 78 degrees. A collective sigh could be heard locally when temperatures finally dipped for the much anticipated arrival of autumn.

Landscaping

The heat of summer has largely passed and despite tough water restrictions, the landscaping at Villa L'Auberge remains inviting. This is a result of planning ahead with irrigation updates, drought tolerant plantings, and some lucky summer rains. We are proudly in compliance with state water restrictions, and doing our part to conserve where possible.

Upcoming Improvements

Villa L'Auberge has already seen significant upgrades in 2015 including new kitchens, exterior doors, and lighting replacement. In early December we will round out the year with the installation of new living room ceiling fans, TVs, larger safes, makeup mirrors, and kitchen supplies including dishes, small appliances, and more. It continues to be an exciting year at the resort!

BBQ Maintenance

What could be better than outdoor cooking on a warm evening followed by a sunset walk on the beach? With great weather year round, this is a regular activity at Villa L'Auberge. To make sure these experiences continue without fail, the BBQ was overhauled simultaneously extending its life and improving ease of use for the great American cookout.

Hope to see you soon!

Kind Regards,

Dan Zwack
